Our abundant artistic calendar is a major factor in Adelaide being amongst the most liveable cities in the world.

South Australians enjoy access to high quality, locally made theatre shows throughout the year, and the annual season from State Theatre Company South Australia underpins that success.

The Company's 2023 season is a diverse and wide-ranging catalogue of tantalising theatre experiences from wickedly absurd, to magically epic, to soulfully musical. It showcases leading theatrical talent from around the country alongside South Australia's own loved and admired artists. I congratulate Artistic Director Mitchell Butel, Executive Director Julian Hobba and their team for putting an excellent program together.

The South Australian Government is proud to support the Company to present such a rich offering for the community. When we come together to share stories, we activate our collective imagination and empathy and build our connections with others, which is so important.

State Theatre Company South Australia is one of the great cultural assets of South Australia and I encourage everyone to take advantage of the wonderful range of shows that are on offer throughout 2023.

The Hon Andrea Michaels MP
Minister for Arts

Joe Thorp

What a privilege it is to introduce the State Theatre Company South Australia 2023 season.

This program is our invitation to the community to share the indescribable feeling of coming together in the theatre: that moment of anticipation, when the house lights go down, the curtain goes up and the actors take the stage. There's nothing like it.

It's a bumper program in 2023, with a spate of original and returning productions that promise to keep our state's theatre lovers active all year. The Board thanks the whole staff at the Company for pulling together this exciting program of work.

We also acknowledge and thank the South Australian Government and Australian Government, through the Australia Council for the Arts, for their support.

As a Company, we are striving to make and present stories on stage that make us rethink what it is to be human. We want to be representative of our community and continue to build on the Company's well-earned reputation for excellence nationally.

We could not do these things without the engagement and support of our audience. You are the necessary ingredient that makes theatre happen and we thank you for being there. We very much hope you enjoy the full calendar of theatre that our 2023 will bring.

Joe Thorp
Board Chair

Executive Director Julian Hobba and Artistic Director Mitchell Butel

Family.

It's a word that conjures so much and it's a concept that's ripe for drama. And comedy.

Looking at family from new angles is at the heart of what is one of the most exciting seasons State Theatre Company South Australia has ever presented.

In 2023, our shows will explore many different and incredible worlds, voices and stories but in them, you'll see families beginning, expanding, falling apart, hoping to heal and new families being formed beyond the biological. Families formed by experience, by resilience, by love, by language, by music.

A dear friend lost her mother this year and at her funeral, our friend relayed a motto her mother had taught her and by which her mother had lived. She said:

"Build families wherever you go. Chosen or otherwise. Community is everything. Care, connect and show up for each other when you need to. Be a mother or a father or a sister or a brother or a carer to those who need one. You will change both their life and yours."

That's great advice. And it's what makes a great theatre company too.

We have been privileged to be the Artistic Director and Executive Director of this wonderful Company for four and three years respectively now and have relished becoming members of such a great family of tireless and talented staff and artists, all devoted to creating phenomenal, transformative and inclusive theatre.

And we've relished watching our extended family- our brilliant, honest, appreciative, daring and increasingly diverse audience, grow in number over that time too.

You all make family gatherings fun!

So, in this season's year-long family picnic, there are some tasty things laid out on the blankets for you...

An acclaimed, internationally best-selling South Australian novel brought to life in a world premiere; a musical homage to one of the world's greatest singers; two of the hottest and most heart-stopping Australian plays in recent history; an immersive, interactive night of laughter and theatrical magic; a deep dive into the one origin story we all have in common; and a Tony Award-winning classic tragicomedy, marking the return to the stage of one of Australia's most beloved actresses.

And to cap it all off, we're bringing back some of the Company's greatest hits that many missed due to their sold-out status and that many, we know, will want to see again.

We're off to see our relatives this year too – after several of our works premiere in Adelaide, our artists will be visiting our co-producers with seasons at Sydney Theatre Company, Belvoir St. Theatre and Melbourne Theatre Company. We'll stop by at the Theatre Royal in Hobart and, with Country Arts SA, will be travelling all over regional SA and the country as well.

Our subscriber numbers continued to grow in 2022 with people realising that an early subscription means priority access to the best seats in the theatre, huge discounts on ticket prices, and other fantastic benefits, events and offers. We can't bring all our shows back for second seasons, so don't be one of those who saw the "Sold Out" sign last year. Subscribe and have the (first and) last laugh.

"In time of test, family is best", goes the proverb. So, come on over to our place for the best theatre in town. We've got the kettle on.

Martin has a marriage and life to envy. A loving wife, a loving teenage son and a celebrated career as an architect that is about to bloom even brighter with an offer to design a 27 billion-dollar dream city in the American Midwest.

Stevie loves Martin, deeply and their house is filled with wit and joy. Until...

As Martin prepares for a TV interview to salute his brilliance, he reveals a secret that could cause the pillars of that house to fall.

Edward Albee's Tony Award-winning dark comedy masterpiece was a huge and Helpmann Award-winning success for State Theatre Company South Australia in the early 2000s but its tales of transgression, desire and betrayal still startle as if they were written yesterday.

In this shattering new production directed by Mitchell Butel (Girls & Boys), we welcome Don Hany, the star of Offspring and White Collar Blue, in the role of Martin, and in her first stage appearance in 25 years, the beloved Logie and AACTA award-winning star of Love My Way, The Secret Life Of Us and Bump, Claudia Karvan, as the fabulous and ferocious Stevie.

The New York Times said "it forces you against your will to reconsider the erotic patterns in your life" and Variety: "Albee's tragicomedy throws every convention into question".

But the greatest question will linger... just who or what is Sylvia?

Claudia Karvan's return to the stage, alongside the brilliant Don Hany, in this dazzling and devastating play, from the man who also wrote Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?, is big and wonderful news. Both Claudia and I were knocked out by Marion Potts' hilarious and jaw-dropping earlier production for STCSA and we've both wanted to explore the play's genius anew ever since. The stars have aligned - I couldn't be more excited. Mitchell

Sometimes the little things can create something big and beautiful.

A young boy attempts to bring his mother out of depression by making her a list of every brilliant thing in the world. Decades pass, the list grows and what was once a game eventually becomes a new way of looking at the world - a world where there is joy to be found in every corner of our world, if we can open ourselves to the possibility.

If you had to make a list, where would you start?

Duncan Macmillan's acclaimed interactive comedy about family, love, loss and hope has delighted and moved audiences across the globe and heads to Adelaide in a new production helmed by Yasmin Gurreeboo (Decameron 2.0) and starring Jimi Bani (Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? and Mabo).

It's raw, real and intimate and although it may seem like a solo work, this is a show that involves all of its audience (in a non-scary way, you'll love it!) to build bridges and mend hearts.

"One of the funniest plays you'll ever see about depression – and possibly one of the funniest plays you'll ever see, full stop." The Guardian

"This is a must-see show; a theatrical experience you will never forget." Artshub

I first saw this charming, funny but deeply affecting show in its premiere New York season and was bowled over by its stealthy simplicity that puts you at ease in order to reach into your very core. Speaking of charm, Jimi Bani has it in spades. A natural storyteller and stage magician. A thrill to welcome Yasmin, the Artistic Director of acclaimed Adelaide company, ActNow Theatre, to make her mainstage directorial debut with us as well. Mitchell

Tessa is a gun. And at the top of her game.

A brilliant barrister who defends men charged with sexual assault, she is a gladiatorial master of emotions who can work a courtroom like no other.

But when the tables are turned, her words are called into question and her accusations are now in doubt. The legal system's failure to provide a solid road to justice for women is exposed. And now it's personal.

After gripping audiences all over Australia and recently, in the West End with Killing Eve's Jodie Comer, South Australia gets its very own production. Fresh from his acclaimed version of Glengarry Glen Ross, David Mealor directs Caroline Craig (Underbelly and Eureka Day) in this heart-stopping one-woman tour de force.

"Miller's play is one of passionate moral intelligence. Having practised both criminal and human rights law, Miller brings that considerable insight to bear in this gripping look at how women are routinely underserved by a legal system rooted in the concept of innocent until proven guilty." Limelight

"This is an urgent and compelling work. Run, don't walk." Time Out

"A searing indictment of the law's treatment of women." Sydney Morning Herald

How great that a new Australian play that has been such a hit and resonated so deeply with audiences gets its South Australian reboot with a team of our finest makers and in Caroline Craig, an actress who has oft electrified Adelaide audiences. A nail-biting and potent tale that will leave an indelible mark on you. Mitchell

Putalina, Oyster Cove, just south of Hobart, Tasmania. A Palawa man, Boyd Everett, is determined to do right – by his family, by the land, and by his people.

The bones of his ancestor, William Lanne are being returned to him. Boyd has been chosen by the Land Council to light the fire which will reunite Lanne with the “old fellas in the sky... where there’s wallaby bounding everywhere. Where there’s an abalone under every swaying piece of bull kelp. Where there are crayfish under every hanging rock ledge. Where there’s a mutton bird in every burrow.”

But strangers are arriving. Strangers now making claims on all Boyd holds dear, ready to dig up the pain of the past and drag it into the present.

Nathan Maynard’s extraordinary tale of a family and a community in crisis arrives fresh from its acclaimed world premiere at Belvoir St Theatre.

“Urgent, provocative, coruscating and haunting ... theatrical statement of the heart, a must-see.” Australian Stage

“A play sculpted from muscle and bone and filled in from the gut... it is smartly pitched and richly rhythmic and never shies away from a laugh (there are many)...” Sydney Morning Herald

“A great political tragedy grows out of comic domestic beginnings in this slow-burning play... like all great tragedies, it builds towards pity and terror in its ending.” The Australian

*Nathan Maynard is one of the hottest and most talented playwrights working in Australia at the moment. His comic gifts are immense but his capacity for deep drama and suspense is equally monumental. Teaming with other great First Nations artists - Isaac Drandic as director and designers Chloe Ogilvie and Jacob Nash, alongside a brilliant cast, this show will burn brightly at the Odeon. It's 1959. In a small bar in Philadelphia that's seen better days, one of the greatest jazz singers of all-time, Billie Holiday walks onstage. Unbeknownst to her audience, it will be one of her last performances. The jazz trio start to play, her incomparable voice fills the room. The songs flow - Ain't Nobody's Business If I Do, What a Little Moonlight Can Do, Strange Fruit, Don't Explain, God Bless the Child - but so do the stories. Tales of her youth and her heroes - of Bessie Smith, Louis Armstrong, Benny Goodman and her beloved mother, the Duchess. Hard times, happy times. Love, oppression, addiction but survival, courage and grace. And to the music she keeps returning: "Singin' is livin' to me". With signature charm and wit, she laughs more than she cries, as she tells us how she came to be known as the great Lady Day.

It takes an extraordinary talent to capture another extraordinary talent and in Zahra Newman, audiences will find just that.

After delighting audiences in leading roles onstage in shows like The Book of Mormon and A Raisin in the Sun and on-screen in Wentworth, Neighbours and Rosehaven, Newman's talent and musical mastery takes full flight in a show the New York Daily News calls "a spell-binding tour-de-force - captivating, surprising and satisfying".

"Turns jazz songs and standards into searching, and searing, portraits of life and love gone wrong that cast a shimmering spell." New York Times

"It's stunning, it's heartbreaking. The anguish and fury in it is heart stopping." Huffington Post

"A legend is forever, and if Lady Day doesn't bring its subject back, it does justice to her enduring spirit." USA Today

Zahra as Billie is guaranteed to be one of the performances of the century. I have always loved both the beauty and melancholy of Billie Holiday's golden voice and artistry. I have likewise always been in awe of Zahra's great charisma and skill. And when Zahra sings, like Billie, she reaches to the centre of the earth and up to the heavens. You'll be in heaven in this cabaret club that we will create in the Space Theatre. Book early to get a table onstage. You'll never want to leave. Mitchell

In 1901, the word bondmaid was discovered to be missing from the Oxford English Dictionary. The Dictionary of Lost Words is the story of the girl who stole it.

South Australian novelist Pip Williams' internationally bestselling book, comes to vivid life in this world premiere stage adaptation by South Australian playwright, Verity Laughton.

A best-selling multi-award winner (including the People's Choice Award at the NSW Premier's Literary Awards) and chosen for the Reese Witherspoon Book Club, the book has been lauded as an "absorbing, quietly revolutionary novel", "deeply, intrinsically kind (and) a profoundly comforting place to dwell" (The Age) and "a captivating and slyly subversive fictional paean to the real women whose work on the Oxford English Dictionary went largely unheralded." (New York Times).

Motherless and ever curious, Esme spends her childhood in the Scriptorium – the "Scrippry", a converted garden shed in Oxford where her father and a team of lexicographers guided by Dr James Murray are gathering words for the very first Oxford English Dictionary. She hides beneath the sorting table and catches a word on a "slip" as it falls and soon, she finds other words that have been neglected by the men. Here begins Esme's collection of her own: the Dictionary of Lost Words.

As the years pass, Esme realizes that little importance is placed on recording the words and meanings relating to women's experiences and as her world expands and her circle of friends grows – actresses, suffragettes, market traders, workers, she realises the power in their silenced voices and decides to lend them hers. And on the way, she comes to understand the many meanings of the word "love".

"Full of heart and tenderness, heartbreak and joy, love and loss." The Herald Sun

What a coup for this Company! A hugely popular South Australian novel bursts onto our stage. Verity's adaptation gets to the rich core of the book while making the story a thing what will sing in the theatre. How equally thrilling to have Jessica Arthur, fresh from her success with Chalkface, return to us to direct this beloved, epic, romantic tale that celebrates language and its power. Sure to be a landmark production. Mitchell

When Anna, a pianist and perfectionist, falls pregnant with her first child, her excitement is tempered by the daunting journey ahead. She shares the dizzying wonder and crippling anxiety that comes with creating new life. Should she indulge her craving for sausage after sixteen years of not eating meat? Will her birth plan involve Enya or hypnosis, or neither? And just how worried should she be about her baby falling into a composting toilet?

Anna Goldsworthy has turned her captivating memoir into a captivating play which combines warmth, humour and surprise to reveal the love that binds families together.

This world premiere production evokes the shock of plunging into a life-changing adventure and the kicking required to return to the surface.

With live songs and a soon-to-be-announced star of the stage in the role of Anna, this charming but delightfully affecting and hilarious account of pregnancy and early motherhood melds Up the Duff candour with Lena Dunham-like wit, and will have you laughing, sighing and crying in recognition.

Praise for the memoir...

"Radiant truth-telling, straight-faced, savoury humour and rigorous honesty. It's simply beautiful, moving and generous – and welcome." The Australian

"This is a story at once completely universal and incredibly vivid." Sydney Morning Herald

"There are few books that have made me howl with laughter as this one has... A deliciously subversive read." Melbourne Review

I have a talent crush on Anna Goldsworthy. I admit it. A brilliant writer, musician, teacher, festival director and also, a mother whose love and generosity and good-humoured approach to parenthood and life is a lesson for us all. How fantastic to see Shannon Rush, director of the brilliant Cathedral in 2022, helm her first as Artistic Associate for the Company. Mitchell

She meets him in an airport queue and sparks fly. Their passionate love affair takes them to marriage, a mortgage, and children – an ordinary family life. Her natural working-class wit works to her advantage, and unexpectedly she starts rising above her allotted rung on the British social ladder. The power dynamic between them shifts – imperceptible cracks become yawning gulfs – but when the house they built begins to fall, nothing prepares her for what happens next.

The innocent sounding Girls & Boys is a searing one-woman show by Dennis Kelly, the celebrated wordsmith of in-her-face classics like Osama the Hero and DNA, as well as the masterful dialogue for Tim Minchin's Matilda. A high-wire act balancing comedy and drama which has stunned audiences in London and New York, its stellar solo role is brilliantly filled here by Justine Clarke, whose versatility has seen her adored by audiences for her work on Play School to ARIA Award-winning albums and darker, powerhouse turns in Love My Way, Tangle and Look Both Ways.

A ticking time bomb, Girls & Boys is an engrossing, edge-of-your-seat play that shifts gears from Fleabag-like wit and mischief to harrowing shock in a matter of seconds, and it will leave you breathless.

Whether seeing it for the first time, or revisiting, you won't want to miss this return season of the unanimously praised, breakout hit of the 2022 Adelaide Festival.

"Girls & Boys is a clever play intelligently built on quiet passion and no hiding places. It will change your image of Justine Clarke forever – and should result in a swag of awards for her and the production; she is brilliant. Fight for tickets." Stage Noise

"This is an extraordinary work and with Butel directing the magnificent Justine Clarke, it sings tour de force in all directions." The Barefoot Review

Working with Justine and the team on this knockout and important play was one of the most rewarding experiences of my life. Her commitment, talent and bravery were mind-blowing to me and all her witnessed her. The first season of this production completely sold out. Do not miss the chance to catch it this time round. School teacher Meg wants to start a new festival called “Euphoria” to celebrate everything her country town has to offer. Former student Ethan doesn’t think there’s much to celebrate at all until he meets Annie and hatches a plan for a campervan escape. Meg’s husband Nick wants Meg to slow down, but there’s still so much to do – get grants, make run sheets, hurry to Adelaide to win the support of the Premier. She’s spinning fast. And the rest of the town is beginning to notice.

An Antipodean Under Milk Wood, Emily Steel’s Euphoria brings to life a South Australian regional community, full of love, pain, complexity and humour, with two virtuosic actors, James Smith and Ashton Malcolm, playing a range of idiosyncratic characters.

After its triumphant season in 2021 and an extensive regional South Australian tour, Euphoria embarks on a national tour in 2023 which includes this limited return Adelaide season.

“A must-see...one of the finest pieces of new stage writing to grace an Adelaide stage.” The Advertiser

“The seriousness of the issues explored in Euphoria are counterbalanced by the extraordinary charm of this tight, entertaining production. Funny, heart-warming, emotive, and thought provoking, Euphoria is an outstanding piece of theatre.” Limelight

STATE OF EVENTS

TANGENT TALKS

Our Tangent Talks, supported by State Library South Australia, bring our artists and audience together to share the big ideas driving the creation of our work. We gather the brightest, must-hear voices from the creative, academic and political worlds to open out the themes of the play. In 2023, big ideas abound: sexism in the legal system, grief, First Nations viewpoints, the suffragette movement and motherhood. Tickets are just $10 and include a glass of wine from SC Pannell. Tangent Talks begin at 6pm at the State Library of South Australia. Book on our website for each Tangent Talk.

Dates for 2023 Tangent Talks are:

Prima Facie – 20 March

Every Brilliant Thing – 3 April

At What Cost? – 29 May

The Dictionary of Lost Words – 4 September

Welcome to Your New Life – 23 October

SUBSCRIBER BRIEFINGS

Subscribers are treated to exclusive briefings where you can step inside the theatre and hear from our incredible artists and creatives before the show hits the stage. This is your chance to get up close and personal with each show. Briefings start at 6pm and are included free of charge as part of your subscription. Please see the calendar on pages 37-38 for dates.

A DATE WITH STATE AND POST-SHOW Q&A'S

After selected evening performances of each show in Season 2023, we hold Q&As with our artists and creative teams.

Supported by the Office for Ageing Well and Seniors Card, join us for tea and coffee from one hour before the performance of selected matinees for A Date With State. Stay after the performance to find out more about the process of getting these great plays from page to stage. There is no additional cost for Q&As or A Date With State, just join us on the nominated date. Simply check the calendar on pages 37-38 and book accordingly.

STATE DONATE

Thank you for considering a donation with your subscription.

This additional financial support is essential for the Company to make great theatre and create opportunities for South Australian artists and arts workers and is very gratefully received.

We encourage anyone who is interested to get involved in our long-running Giving Circles that support important work by the Company.

DRAMATIC WOMEN

The Dramatic Women group was established by former Artistic Director Rosalba Clemente to support work led by women. Over more than twenty years, it has created an inspiring body of work by the best female theatre artists in South Australia and the nation. Being part of the group provides special insight into, and engagement with, the play supported each year.

COMMISSIONING COLLECTIVE

Commissioning is the process through which the Company engages a playwright to write a new play. As a Company dedicated to new South Australian and Australian stories on stage, commissioning and creatively developing new plays is at the heart of our work. As a member of this collective, you become a champion of current and future playwrights in the state.

SUPPORT US

Donations of $2 or more are tax-deductible and all donations, big or small, make a difference.

Indicate your interest on the subscription form or contact our Philanthropy team on 08 8415 5333 or email donate@statetheatrecompany.com.au

STATE THEATRE COMPANY SOUTH AUSTRALIA FOUNDATION

The State Theatre Company South Australia Foundation was established in 2014 and has a vision to enable State Theatre Company South Australia to thrive over the long-term.

The Foundation receives private donations, major gifts, and bequests and manages funds to invest in Company activities that build its long-term sustainability.

EDUCATION & YOUTH

Each year the Foundation disburses a portion of its Endowment to support the annual Education activities of State Theatre Company South Australia, to create the playwrights, directors, designers, performers, and audiences of the future. As it builds its Endowment, the financial support to the Company grows and more opportunities are enabled for our state's aspiring and talented theatre makers. Support for Education & Youth activities saves and changes lives.

For more information on how you can be involved, contact Julian or Alyssa on 08 8415 5333 or development@statetheatrecompany.com.au

We sincerely thank all those who have made donations and offered support to State Theatre Company South Australia over the past year, including the hundreds of people who made donations under $750. This list reflects donations made from 1 July 2021 to 18 August 2022.

We thank those who have made donations to the State Theatre Company South Australia Foundation and the Jill Blewett Playwrights Award Endowment Fund, and those who have contributed gifts over the life of the Company. We also thank those who have generously contributed their time and service, particularly our Board and Foundation Directors.
